During the Coaching School, participants will be coached, using situations from their personal and professional lives. We invite participants to identify a few scenarios that they’d be willing to discuss and be coached on at the School. Listed below are a few sample situations along with blank lines to fill in with your own coaching scenarios.

SAMPLE COACHING SCENARIOS

SAMPLE SCENARIOS: PERSONAL SITUATIONS
- Dealing with tensions among family settings.
- Addressing the “lack of trust” issues with a friend.
- Setting better boundaries for oneself; self-care.
- Discerning what the next chapter of ministry might look like for oneself.

SAMPLE SCENARIOS: WORK/MINISTRY SITUATIONS
- Dealing with a toxic work environment.
- Learning to advocate for oneself at work more intentionally.
- Developing a Personal Improvement Plan for a challenging employee one supervises.
- Changing the norms and culture of a team one leads.
- Rethinking one’s roles and responsibilities at work; suggesting new roles to play at work.
- Creating a new team covenant to help team members communicate and collaborate more effectively.

LIST YOUR SCENARIOS: PERSONAL SITUATIONS
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

LIST YOUR SCENARIOS: WORK/MINISTRY SITUATIONS
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________