RESOURCES:

Here are a few links for good Books of the Bible songs. Songs are a great way to memorize the books of the Bible, making it easier for your kids to start navigating the Bible on their own. Play it in the car, while you're cooking dinner, during clean up time. You'll be surprised how quickly they start remembering the order of the books!

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=K9DodTRI3vU> Books of the Bible song by KJV Songs. Features a ukulele, a little folksy, for the younger crowd.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=V\_n3oXTBcc Books of the Bible by Kidspring Children's Ministry. Funny video/visuals.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=g4KEWLNnmCQ> Books of the Bible by North Point Kids VEVO. A silly rap, categorizes the books, adds a few phrases that describe the sections/books as hooks. This is especially good if you have kids more likely to roll their eyes at this idea—kids closer to tweens & boys.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ixMvFdeo-F0> Bible Books by the Bigsby Show. This one has a bit of a Beatles vibe if you ask me....

Way Maker, performed by Leeland: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=29IxnsqOkmQ> Live Lyric video. Consider playing this often, and once your kids become familiar with it, record them singing it. They can sing a verse, the chorus, the whole song....I'd love to put together a montage of ALL the kids worshipping to this song, which was a favorite this fall during our 8 week study of WORSHIP. Just make sure when you record them, you can hear their voices louder than Leeland's.

Don't hesitate to reach out if you have questions, need other ideas, want to pray together....I will always make time to talk!

Much love to all of you....
