

Greetings from Brazil in the wonderful name of Jesus. We pray that you are well and enjoying His joy and peace.

In the midst of these very different times in which we are living, we try to maintain a normal schedule and serve where we can. I (Richard) give English lessons at the WEC base, participate in prayer and devotional times, and visit Cidade Refugio (CR) Rehab program. Marta is doing a post-grad course for teaching those with special needs, along with helping Jac with her studies. Jac is in her last semester for her education degree. She is also going to begin her third one hundred hour internship helping four hours per day at the WEC base. The university allows this last internship to be done in an NGO.

We are very grateful for each one of you who prays for us and is a part of our ministry. Because of your support this month, we were able to help some of the CR workers, a couple of fellow missionaries, and contribute to the CR water project. May the Lord be glorified and honored in all of our lives as we seek first His Kingdom and His righteousness. Thanks again!

During this pandemic, or any trial, we are tempted to ask, "How long, O Lord?" but when we know Christ we can trust in His unfailing love and sing of His goodness. Psalm 13:1,5,6.

His peace,

Rich, Marta, and Jac Hoadley

Photos: 1. CR interns making bread. In the course the interns learn a lot about baking and receive a certificate.

2: Manjoca (yucca?) harvest. The soil at the CR farm is not the best, but with hard work and preparation it is producing more each year.

3: Candomble/Macumba is a kind of voodoo practiced here. This offering was in a praça near our home. These offerings are often done to obtain vengeance. I recently witnessed to a young man named Lucas who is heavily into this and obviously oppressed. Pray for him.
