

Dress Code

Although Pathfinders is an organization open to all who wish to join, we are sponsored by and enjoy upholding the Christian standards of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists has put forth the Church Manual as a guide in Doctrine and moral conduct. Many aspects of the rules that regulate activity, appearance, and behavior, are as a direct result of this book.

DRESS

Pathfinder activities will always be conducted in uniform unless the project is of a nature that it requires work clothes that may be ruined.

Pathfinders will always be neat, clean, and well groomed. For young men this means wrinkle-free pants and shirts that are clean and stain free, properly combed hair of a conservative length and style, as well as clean faces and hands. No Jewelry of any sort is allowed.

For young ladies, the same conservative nature applies. Clothing should be well kept, clean, and wrinkle-free at all times. If skirts are part of the uniform, a length no shorter than the top of the knee, when standing, is appropriate. Footwear is to be low-heel and closed toe with stockings or socks as defined by the Pathfinder Uniform Guide. Hair should be worn in appropriate styles that portray a conservative nature. Clean faces and hands are expected. For those teen girls who wear make-up, conservative skin tones that do not draw attention to one's self may be used in appropriate quantities. No Jewelry of any sort is allowed.

Staff members will be held to the same standards of grooming as the Pathfinder. Married staff members may wear a conservative wedding ring, as may be the social custom in your culture.

THE UNIFORM TYPES

Class A – Full Dress uniform. Appropriate for: Pathfinder meetings where they will not be damaged in the meetings activities, Special Ceremonies, Inspections, and Outreach or Fundraising activities.

Class B – Dress Uniform Shirt and long Denim Jeans. This is one version of a field uniform and is for more rigorous activities where a Dress uniform is not appropriate or practical.

Class C – This is a field uniform, which consists of a T-shirt and Denim Jeans. Normally this uniform is worn for hiking, camping and other activities where the uniform may become soiled or damaged as a result of the activity. The Class C shirt has the name/logo of the Pathfinder Club on it, and often the Pathfinder Triangle Logo.

Community Service – For some community service projects it may not be practical for club members to be in uniform. Clothing of a disposable nature or that the club member will not mind damaging may be more appropriate for activities such as painting, home repair, and other potentially messy projects. Even when not in uniform, all Pathfinders will be expected to present themselves in a conservative manner that is an appropriate representation of the Pathfinder program.
