THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

Desperate times call for desperate measures. Have you ever uttered these words? Maybe it was before a family meal and you discovered you had a missing ingredient. Maybe you were getting ready for a night out and you realized your favorite shirt had a stain on it. Maybe you were in the middle of the doing some lawn work and a piece of equipment broke and you had to come up with some creative patch job. We have all been in situations where we have had to be imaginative.

However, what if our “desperate time” did not relate to some inconvenience, but to our health or the health of one of our children? What do you do then? What if our desperation is not something we can come up with a creative solution to, but demands that we cry out to the Lord for help? Suddenly, a common phrase that we use casually does not feel so casual.

Today, we will see two people who were in desperate need of help from Jesus. We will first be introduced to a man whose daughter is on death’s doorstep. While Jesus is in the midst of helping him, another person, a lady, reaches out to Jesus hoping that He can help her with a health issue. These people could not be further apart on the spectrum of how they were viewed by society, but they both needed the same thing: a touch from the Lord.

Maybe you find yourself in a place of desperation today. Maybe you need your own touch from the Lord. I hope that as you look at these two people that you will realize that our Lord genuinely cares about the things we go through. I hope that you, like they, will reach out to Him believing that He can meet you at your place of greatest need.

In both instances today we will see that faith played a role. We are called to the same faith that these individuals were called to. If we will trust the Lord, we will see God move just as they did. However, one word of caution; while both of these people received the answer of yes, there is no guarantee that we will hear the same. Nonetheless, our God is good and moves and works according to His will to bring about His best for our lives.

Honored to be your pastor,

DARRELL
