

GETTING ALONE WITH GOD

Committing to the daily practice of genuine interaction with God — in His word and led by His spirit — is critical in the transformation of a Christian's life. This goes beyond the casual reading of scripture or simply skimming through a ready-made devotional. We must get into the disciplined habit of truly getting alone with God and mastering the art of intersecting God's word with our life. When we are guided by the Holy Spirit and begin to truly apply God's living word to our lives, we become radically transformed.

LISTEN

Meditate on God's word. Find a quiet place where you can be alone with God. Choose your passage for the day. Then begin to mull over the passage several times slowly and purposefully, being aware of the context it is written in. What is God's word saying? What spiritual principals stand out to you?

RESPOND

After applying God's word to your life, how will you respond? What faithful, obedient action can you take to make these truths real in your current circumstances? Spiritual, relational, physical, how is the Holy Spirit calling you to respond?

APPLY

Applying God's word is the inward acknowledgement of the truths that the Holy Spirit is impressing on your heart for your life personally and specifically. Still being aware of the context of this passage, how do the spiritual principals in this passage apply to your life personally, today.

PRAY

Complete your time alone with God with a prayer. Write your prayer in response to what God has impressed on you and what you have experienced in his presence. Pray to align your heart with the will of God.
