2 Corinthians 5:17:

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

Dear Pastors and Praying Friends,

We hope that you are doing well. We have had a busy month to say the least. We are thankful for God's provision and His comfort even in hard times.

Courtney's dad suffered a heart attack and passed away suddenly on July 18th. We were in TX at the time and drove straight home in order to be with the family and help make arrangements for his funeral. Please continue to pray for the family during this difficult time. We are, however, thankful that he was a believer with a good testimony. We do not have to grieve as others who don't have the wonderful hope of heaven. There is a picture of Courtney's mom and dad at the bottom of the page.

We are glad to be back on the road going from church to church sharing our burden for Nepal. God provided two weeks of meetings in TX and we enjoyed our time with fellow believers out there. This is Gideon's first official month of meetings! He has made lots of new friends and travels well.

We are thankful to have hope in God. He is so good to us. I cannot imagine what it is like to grow up in a place like Nepal and never hear about the loving God of the Bible. It is tragic to know that they do not have true hope when someone passes. They only hope they have done enough for a good after-life or hope they can try again in the next life. It is our desire to reach Nepal with the hope of the Gospel as quickly as we can. Please pray for us to get there as soon as we can!

In Christ,

Justus, Courtney, and Gideon Mize.

Executive Summary

The Nepal Initiative is a multi-stakeholder effort to support the government of Nepal in its efforts to reform the judicial system, improve the legal framework, and strengthen the rule of law.

The Initiative is led by the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) and is supported by a number of other international organizations, including the European Union, the World Bank, and the International Development Research Centre (IDRC).

The Initiative's primary focus is on supporting the government of Nepal in its efforts to reform the judicial system, improve the legal framework, and strengthen the rule of law.

The Initiative's activities are organized into four main areas: judicial reform, legal reform, rule of law, and capacity building.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be complementary to the government of Nepal's own efforts to reform the judicial system, improve the legal framework, and strengthen the rule of law.

The Initiative's activities are also designed to be complementary to the efforts of other international organizations working in the same area.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be sustainable and to have a long-term impact on the judicial system, the legal framework, and the rule of law in Nepal.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be transparent and accountable to the public.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be inclusive and to involve all stakeholders.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be effective and to achieve the desired results.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be cost-effective and to provide value for money.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be innovative and to explore new approaches.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be flexible and to adapt to changing circumstances.

The Initiative's activities are designed to be scalable and to have the potential to be replicated in other countries.
