

A black and white photograph showing a close-up of a baby's hands being gently held and cupped by an adult's hands. The baby's hands are small and curled, while the adult's hands are larger and provide a protective frame. The background is softly blurred, showing what appears to be the face of the baby.

Write a letter.....

Make a commitment to pray consistently for your child's salvation. Use this page to write a letter letting him/her know that you are praying for the day they will accept Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior. Save this letter for the day you celebrate their decision to trust Christ or, for the celebration of their Water Baptism.

Dear _____,

[illegible]

Looking inward.....

As a parent, there are two great things you can do for your child. The first is to love God and make His word a priority. The second is to provide a healthy family environment. As a married parent loving your spouse is vitally important to a healthy family. Decide what practical things you will do to ensure your marriage is a priority. This may include committing to an early bedtime for your children so that you can spend time talking to and praying with your spouse. Take the opportunity to make a list of five things you will do to make your spouse a priority. If you are single and considering marriage; list 5 Godly principles you are looking for in a spouse.

Looking to the future.....

Knowing how you want to raise your children is important. If you don't know where you are going, then you will never get there. Biblical values are the key to raising Godly children. Take the opportunity for each parent to make a list of five things you value about family. Talk about why these things are important and how they are Biblical values.

Agreement:

I have watched Pastor John's message on the "Four Pillars of Parenting" and have talked through the Parent Guide to Child Dedication with my spouse (where applicable). I feel confident that my family will make God and His word a priority as I raise my child(ren) in a Christ centered home. I will strive to love God and my spouse with all my heart as I show my child(ren) how to live as a Christ follower. I commit to praying for my children and showing them the same love that God has shown me. I will strive to have my children raised in a church community so they can grow in relationship with God and others. As a parent, I will invest all I can to help my children know God.
