CALDWELL COUNTY

Located in the Pennyriple area of the west central part of the state, Caldwell County was established in 1809, and named after General John Caldwell. A Virginian and Indian fighter, Caldwell served under General George Rogers Clark in his 1786 Indian expedition. He later served as lieutenant governor of the state.

The county seat is located at Princeton in the central part of the county. Caldwell County was formed from an area that previously had been in Livingston County. Lake Beshear, at the edge of the Pennyriple Forest State Park, is on the eastern boundary of the county. Also, in the east central area, is the Jones-Keeney Wildlife Management Area.

CHRISTIAN COUNTY

Christian County, one of the earliest of the western Kentucky counties, was formed in 1796 and is located in the Pennyriple area. The county seat of government is located at Hopkinsville, a highway hub in the southwestern part of the state. The county's southern border joins Tennessee. In the northwest part of the County, Beshear Lake and Pennyriple State Resort park provide recreational opportunities. The county was created from lands previously part of Logan County.

A Virginian, William Christian was a captain in Colonel William Byrd's Virginia regiment by the time he was 20 years of age. Four years later he was a law student in Patrick Henry's law office. During the revolutionary war he was a colonel in the First Virginia Regiment. Christian gained a 900 acre land grant in the Louisville area and moved his family to Bear Grass Creek in 1785. He was killed a year later near Jeffersonville, Indiana while leading a pursuit party against marauding Wabash Indians.

CRITTENDEN COUNTY

Crittenden County, located in the Pennyryle Region of Western Kentucky, was formed in 1842 from a part of Livingston County. Illinois is directly across the Ohio River that forms the county's northwest boundary.

The county is named for John Jordan Crittenden, a native Kentuckian, who spent more than fifty years in public service at the local, state and national levels. At various times, Crittenden was a US Senator, Attorney General of the United States, a state and federal legislator and governor of the state. As governor, Crittenden maintained that "the dissolution of the Union can never be regarded- ought never to be regarded- as a remedy, but as the consummation of the greatest evil that can befall us." Crittenden returned to Kentucky in 1861 to keep his state from seceding, and died in 1863.

HOPKINS COUNTY

Hopkins County, located in the Pennyrile Region of southwestern Kentucky, was formed in 1806 from a part of Henderson County. The county seat is located at Madisonville in the west central area of the county. The county is named in honor of General Samuel Hopkins who distinguished himself at the battles of Trenton, Princeton, Monmouth, Brandywine and Germantown.

This native Virginian, born in 1753 in Abermarle County, settled in the Green River County of Kentucky in 1797. Hopkins served that area in the state legislature and as a member of the thirteenth Congress.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY

Livingston County, formed in 1798 from a portion of Christian County, is located in the Pennyryle of western Kentucky, bordering Illinois. The county seat is Smithland. Livingston County was named in honor of Robert Livingston, one of the five men who drew up the Declaration of Independence in 1776.

Livingston, born in New York City, was a graduate of Columbia College before attending the Continental Congress. He served as a U.S. secretary of foreign affairs and chancellor of New York State. He obtained a monopoly of steam navigation after aiding Robert Fulton in building his steamboat.

LYON COUNTY

Eddyville is the county seat of Lyon County, which is located in the Pennyrile area of western Kentucky. The county was created in 1854, from what had been part of Caldwell County.

Colonel Matthew Lyon was the first settler to come to what is known now as Lyon County. He was born in Ireland in 1750 and came to America some 15 years later. Lyon not only cast the decisive vote that elected Thomas Jefferson as President of the United States, but earlier in 1798, he had been prosecuted under the Sedition Act, which he had publicly opposed. Imprisoned and fined, the prosecution produced the natural result at that time- Lyon was re-elected by an overwhelming majority. The prosecution was of doubtful legality and combined with a charge of jury-packing, Lyon's continuation in office was assured. He eventually became a Kentucky legislator, serving from 1802 until 1811. In 1820 Lyon was appointed by President Monroe as factor to the Cherokee Indian Nation.

MUHLENBERG COUNTY

Muhlenberg County is located in the Pennyrile area of the west central part of the state. Established in 1798, the county is named in honor of General Peter Muhlenberg, who fought in the Revolution.

Greenville is the seat of government for the county that was formed from lands that earlier were parts of Logan and Christian counties. Central City is another significant community in the county. The Green River forms much of the eastern border of the county while the Pond River forms the entire western border. Lake Malone State Park is located in the south central part of Muhlenberg County.

Trigg County

Cadiz is the county seat of Trigg County which is located in the Pennyryle area of southwestern Kentucky. The county, established in 1820 from parts of Christian and Caldwell counties, was named in honor of colonel Stephen Trigg. He had established Trigg Station on Cave Run near Harrodsburg, and then had died in the Battle of Blue Licks.

Tennessee forms the southern border of the county, which contains a portion of the Land Between the Lakes (that area lying between Lake Barkley and Kentucky Lake) as well as part of the Fort Campbell Military Reservation. The famous Lake Barkley State Resort Park is in the north central part of the county.
