

In this time
of uncertainty,
Peace Memorial
brings hope to downtown
Clearwater
with world class concerts.

For more than a decade, Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church has presented an annual concert series. Folks gather in the historic sanctuary at three o'clock in the afternoon on second Sundays, October through March to hear celebrated artists perform music of all genres.

As the pandemic continues, the Peace Concerts join other organizations in finding a new normal at a time cultural enrichment is especially vital to our mental health and wellness. With a spirit of safety-minded cooperation amongst performers and patrons, advanced purchased tickets or subscriptions are some of the requirements to ensure a successful Concert Season.

To keep our music playing, CDC guidelines will be observed:

- Doors will open no earlier than thirty-minutes before concerts to minimize congregating outside and in entrance areas;
- Patrons will answer self-screening, submit to a temperature scan, and sanitize hands prior to entry;

- Masks will be required at all times;
- Patrons will be seated according to their subscription or ticket purchase and socially distanced a minimum of six feet apart;
- Patrons will remain seated after the concert until excused by an usher;
- There will be no post-concert reception;
- Concerts will be limited to 60-minutes, without intermission;
- Restrooms will be sanitized between usages.

As seating capacity is limited by social distancing, the following advance purchase season subscriptions, single concert admission tickets, and online streaming options are offered to ensure our commitments to musicians are honored and future series remain viable:
