Looking Forward

- Last weeks painting giveaway was won by Lauren Ward from NSW. Lauren was very happy to hear the good news and said it was better than a cake as it was her birthday!
- Work is under way for Canterbury Art Show and I have entered Art Red Hill and St Kevins College Art Shows and now await acceptance.
- I accepted an invitation to be part of "Nostalgia", a group exhibition at "in.cub8er" in Fitzroy. See right for dates.

Awesome Artist of the week!!

Corrine Young

Corrine and I met through social media and discovered we lived in neighboring suburbs. We are now great friends and regularly meet up for chats about art and everything else. Corrine is an inspiration to everyone! She is living with a Traumatic Brain Injury and art became part of her healing process. She works with oils and has a strong connection to animals and nature. Corrine produces stunning works and is one hell of an artist. You can follow her story and check out her work on Instagram by clicking here For sales, or to follow her on Bluethumb, click here. An amazing woman!!

Weekly Watch

Early in the week I was asked to collaborate with Artline and Spirax. In return for tagging them on social media I am receiving $300-400 worth of products. I have used both products for years so I was very excited to be asked and was very quick to accept the offer.

At the beginning of the week I received an email to say I hadn't been short listed in the Bayside Acquisitive Art Prize so consequently "Esplanade", the piece I entered, is now available for purchase on Bluethumb, via the link at the top of the page.

The mask I bought at Bunnings, for my Painting class, proved to be a worthy investment as I suffered no effects from the solvents. I did, however, look ridiculous. Click here to have a look.
