

Trail Clues: Week 4

Here are the clues for the Quorn Churches Holiday Club Trail for Week 4

The posters in the stations should all be there from Monday 9th August through to Monday 16th August. We hope you enjoy it.

Clue pointing you to:
Week 4, Station 1	Welcome to the Quorn Churches Holiday Club trail for this week. It's OK to walk up drives to get a better view of the posters. Here is the first clue for this week's trail: I'm sure Homer Simpson's son would go to church here on a Sunday if he was being very well behaved.
Week 4, Station 2	Not far from here you should find a 'Church Room' from where you should be able to see a Hart and a Fox. The room is where you should find the next sheet.
Week 4, Station 3	Carry on in the same direction. If you take the dash out of the name of this shop, it sounds like chickens would live there. Find a smart new notice board.
Week 4, Station 4	Head back towards the village until you get to a new bench in the church garden. Can you see a house with a Bull's Head on top? Cross over to this house and then go four buildings closer to the river to a place where they sell EXCELLENT food!
Week 4, Station 5	Carry on towards Leicester. Just before you get to the lane for the school you should be able to see the next clue on the side gate of a house on right-hand side of the road.
Week 4, Station 6	Now go along a lane towards an old school. Just when you get to a road where your legs may get sore, take a rest by a triangular garden. While you are there, look around - this poster is quite small!
Week 4, Station 7	Turn right at an Apple Tree. Does this road really go to a place where trains stop? Find a bungalow on the left. The train will leave at three minutes before quarter past one in the morning.
Week 4, Station 8	This is the clue to the last station for this week: Go back to the shop where Mr. Wiggins, the cyclist, would go shopping. Keep going until you find a notice board in a shop where you would post parcels. When you get there, there will be a clue back to the start of this week's trail. That will be the last station for all the trails. We hope you have enjoyed doing them. Don't forget to come along to the Family Fun in the Park event on Sunday 15th at 3pm. Go to the QuornBC.org website for more details
