Getting to the Heart of Teaching Through Art.... An Integrated Approach

featuring

RON BOREN

This session will use primary and intermediate grades level spans to show how easily accessible integration can be through VAPA (Visual and Performing Arts.) Participants will also complete an art activity and receive the lesson plan for classroom implementation.

Ron has been an elementary teacher for 25 years. He started writing standards based music in 2000 and started performing State Testing Assemblies during the NCLB days. His assembly We Won't Stress When We Assess has taken him throughout the U.S. Today he is still teaching, writing music, and loves to perform assemblies when his schedule allows. He received his Master Degree in 2011 from California State University Stanislaus, which allowed him to research and continue his passion of music in the classroom. He also teaches adjunct for Brandman University and created a Music in the Classroom course for California State University Fresno.
