

Fairy Lamps for Sale

Terms of Service

The purpose of the "Terms of Service" is to afford a minimal degree of protection to the buyer. It may be amended at any time at the descretion of the Administrator.

Administrator's Authority

- The administrator accepts no liability for any transactions between buyer and seller.
- The administrator can accept or reject any items being offered for sale without explanation. However, the following are a few instances that a item for sale may be rejected.
 - only antique fairy lamps or antique fairy lamp related items will be accepted.
 - no reproductions will be accepted
 - no antique fairy lamps with modern decorations - in the judgement of the administrator - will be accepted.
 - fairy lamps with significant damage (major cracks) will be rejected unless offered for FREE plus shipping.
- The administrator may edit any submitted description for clarification.
- The administrator may not offer any guidance related to value or asking price.

Seller Responsibility

- The seller must offer a 100% satisfaction guarantee
 - If required, any refund will include the buyer's shipping expense.
 - The seller is responsible for safe delivery to the buyer.
 - Any insurance claims are the responsibility of the seller.
- The seller must make note of any flaws (chips, cracks, missing components, discoloration, etc.) in the description.
- The seller may offer the caveat "or, best offer" only if a asking price is provided.
- All pricing must be in USD
- All submissions must include the following: "I accept the terms of Service"

Buyers Responsibility

- The buyer must make payment promptly.
