

HIPPA Privacy Policy

This notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to this information. Please review it carefully!

The office is permitted by federal privacy laws to make uses and disclosures of your health information for purposes of treatment, payment, and health care operations. Protected health information is the information created and obtained while providing services to you. Such information may include documenting your symptoms, examination, and test results, diagnoses, treatment, and applying for future care or treatment. It also includes billing documents for those services.

Examples of Uses of Your Health Information for Treatment Purposes are:

- The physician obtains treatment information about you and records it in a health record.
- During the course of your treatment, the physician determines she will need to consult with another specialist in the area. She will share the information with such specialist and obtain his/her input.
- Your PHI may be minimally disclosed if messages are left reminding you of upcoming appointments

Example of Use of Your Health Information for Payment Purposes:

The physician submits requests for payment to your health insurance company. The health insurance company requests information from the office regarding medical care given. The office will provide information to them about you and the care given.

Example of Use of Your Information for Health Care Operations:

The office obtains services from our insurers or other business associates such as quality assessment, quality improvement, outcome evaluation, protocol and clinical guideline development, training programs, credentialing, medical review, legal services, and insurance. The office will share information about you with such insurers or other business associates as necessary to obtain these services.

Your Health Information Rights

The health and billing records we maintain are the physical property of the office/hospital. The information in it, however, belongs to you. You have a right to:

- Request a restriction on certain uses and disclosures of your health information by delivering the request in writing to the office—the office is not required to grant the request, but will comply with any request granted;
- Obtain a paper copy of the current Notice of Privacy Practices for Protected Health Information ("Notice") by making a request at the office;
- Request that you be allowed to inspect and copy your health record and billing record for a reasonable fee—you may exercise this right by delivering a written request to the office;
- Appeal a denial of access to your protected health information, except in certain circumstances;
- Request that your health care record be amended to correct incomplete or incorrect information by delivering a written request to the office. The office may deny your request if you ask to amend information that:
 - Was not created by the office, unless the person or entity that created the information is no longer available to make the amendment;
 - Is not part of the health information kept by or for the office;
 - Is not part of the information that you would be permitted to inspect and copy; or,
 - Is not accurate and complete.

If your request is denied, you will be informed of the reason for the denial and will have an opportunity to submit a statement of disagreement to be maintained with your records;

- Request that communication of your health information be made by alternative means or at an alternative location by delivering the request in writing to our office;
- Obtain an accounting of disclosures of your health information as required to be maintained by law by delivering a written request to the office. An accounting will not include uses and disclosures of information for treatment, payment, or operations; disclosures or uses made to you or made at your request; uses or disclosures made pursuant to an authorization signed by you; uses or disclosures made in a facility directory or to family members or friends relevant to that person's involvement in your care or in payment for such care; or, uses or disclosures to notify family or others responsible for your care of your location, condition, or your death.
- Revoke authorizations that you made previously to use or disclose information by delivering a written revocation to the office, except to the extent information or action has already been taken.

If you want to exercise any of the above rights, please contact Jennifer Wallace MD, in person or in writing, during regular, business hours. She will inform you of the steps that need to be taken to exercise your rights.

Responsibilities

The office is required to:

- Maintain the privacy of your health information as required by law;
- Provide you with a notice as to the duties and privacy practices as to the information collected and maintained about you;
- Abide by the terms of this Notice;
- Notify you if the office cannot accommodate a requested restriction or request; and,
- Accommodate your reasonable requests regarding methods to communicate health information with you.

The office reserves the right to amend, change, or eliminate provisions in the privacy practices and access practices and to enact new provisions regarding the protected health information that the office maintains. If the information practices change, this Notice will be amended. You are entitled to receive a revised copy of the Notice by visiting the office and picking up a copy. Alternatively, the most current version of the Notice will be posted on the office website.

To Request Information or File a Complaint

If you have questions, would like additional information, or want to report a problem regarding the handling of your information, you may contact Dr. Aleksandra Giedwoyn at 971-409-9190, during regular office hours.

Aleksandra Giedwoyn
/

Additionally, if you believe your privacy rights have been violated, you may file a written complaint at the office by delivering the written complaint to Dr. ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~. You may also file a complaint by mailing it to the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

- The office cannot, and will not, require you to waive the right to file a complaint with the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) as a condition of receiving treatment from the office.
-
- The office cannot, and will not, retaliate against you for filing a complaint with the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

Other Disclosures and Uses

Communication with Family

Using our best judgment, the office may disclose to a family member, other relative, close personal friend, or any other person you identify, health information relevant to that person's involvement in your care or in payment for such care if you do not object or in an emergency.

Notification

Unless you object, the office may use or disclose your protected health information to notify, or assist in notifying, a family member, personal representative, or other person responsible for your care, about your location, and about your general condition, or your death.

Research

The office may disclose information to researchers when their research has been approved by an institutional review board that has reviewed the research proposal and established protocols to ensure the privacy of your protected health information.

Disaster Relief

The office may use and disclose your protected health information to assist in disaster relief efforts.

Organ Procurement Organizations

Consistent with applicable law, the office may disclose your protected health information to organ procurement organizations or other entities engaged in the procurement, banking, or transplantation of organs for the purpose of tissue donation and transplant.

Food and Drug Administration (FDA)

The office may disclose to the FDA your protected health information relating to adverse events with respect to food, supplements, products and product defects, or post-marketing surveillance information to enable product recalls, repairs, or replacements.

Workers Compensation

If you are seeking compensation through Workers Compensation, the office may disclose your protected health information to the extent necessary to comply with laws relating to Workers Compensation.

Public Health

As authorized by law, the office may disclose your protected health information to public health or legal authorities charged with preventing or controlling disease, injury, or disability; to report reactions to medications or problems with products; to notify people of recalls; to notify a person who may have been exposed to a disease or who is at risk for contracting or spreading a disease or condition.

Abuse & Neglect

The office may disclose your protected health information to public authorities as allowed by law to report abuse or neglect.

Correctional Institutions

If you are an inmate of a correctional institution, the office may disclose to the institution or its agents the protected health information necessary for your health and the health and safety of other individuals.

Law Enforcement

The office may disclose your protected health information for law enforcement purposes as required by law, such as when required by a court order, or in cases involving felony prosecution, or to the extent an individual is in the custody of law enforcement.

Health Oversight

Federal law allows the release of your protected health information to appropriate health oversight agencies or for health oversight activities.

Judicial/Administrative Proceedings

The office may disclose your protected health information in the course of any judicial or administrative proceeding as allowed or required by law, with your authorization, or as directed by a proper court order.

Serious Threat

To avert a serious threat to health or safety, the office may disclose your protected health information consistent with applicable law to prevent or lessen a serious, imminent threat to the health or safety of a person or the public.

For Specialized Governmental Functions

The office may disclose your protected health information for specialized government functions as authorized by law such as to Armed Forces personnel, for national security purposes, or to public assistance program personnel.

Coroners, Medical Examiners, and Funeral Directors

The office may release health information to a coroner or medical examiner. This may be necessary, for example, to identify a deceased person or determine the cause of death. The office may also release health information about patients to funeral directors as necessary for them to carry out their duties.

Other Uses

Other uses and disclosures, besides those identified in this Notice, will be made only as otherwise required by law or with your written authorization and you may revoke the authorization as previously provided in this Notice under "Your Health Information Rights."